RE: Front End Loader Bids

****

The following is the list of how each Loader complies with the specifications.

921 Case	Meets all specifications. Bid price $ 162,683
SL 250 SamSung	Bid price $ 139,605.00. Have not found a machine in use for more than (6) months. Specifications call for (3) years of use. SL 250 uses air over hydraulic brakes, specifications call for hydraulic only. Better stopping and less problems with total hydraulic brakes. SL 250 has 60 amp alternator instead of 70 amp, SL 250 has no tilt steering wheel, SL 250 meets other specifications.
Cat 966 FII	Bid price is $ 163,300.00 The 966 uses air over hydraulic brakes and specifications require hydraulic. 966 has 79 GPM hydraulic pump, 100 GPM required by specifications. 966 has a 220 hp & 800 Ft lbs torque, specifications require 245 hp & 900 Ft lbs torque.
Volvo 150 L	The bid price is $ 164,660. The 150 L has 82 GPM hydraulic system specifications require 100 GPM, the 150 L Engine HP 231 torque 731 FT lbs, specifications require 245 HP and 900 Ft lbs torque.
Dresser 545	The bid price is $ 189,245.00. The 545 has air over hydraulic brakes, specifications call for total by hydraulic brakes. The 545 hydraulic system has 63.9 GPM output, specifications call for 100 GPM.

After reviewing the specifications and having a chance to operate the loaders, I am recommending the purchase of the Case 921.

The most important reason I am not recommending the SamSung SL 250 is that the unit has not been in operation anywhere in the U.S. for more than 6 months. I don't believe parts availability for the SamSung could be 24 hours as Case and Caterpillar promise.

I personally operated the loaders and found the SamSung to be the least user friendly. Cab comfort was poor as was visibility. Braking was best in both the Volvo and Case due to the fact that both are total hydraulic.

Apart from the written specifications are the facts that the Case has the highest breakout force and highest tipping load of all the loaders. This means more production.

Due to these facts I feel it is in the City's best interest to buy the case 921.
